And finally

A word on instruments and practice:

To progress children do need to have an instrument to practise on at home. If possible, it's best to practise at least four times a week for 10 minutes. It's helpful if this is a good enough quality of instrument for your child to make progress. A poor instrument can make progress trickier; the instrument can be more difficult to play, not stay in tune, or reduce the pleasure your child has in playing it.

Practice – it's a good motto to try to be your child's greatest fan and let your child's teacher be the one to give the instruction. Don't worry if your child isn't regularly practising, children can still make some progress from their lessons in school. Talk to your child's teacher and they can help you come up with a plan on how best to encourage your child to regularly practise. Little things like having a good space (not a cold room or with the television on) also help. Reward schemes like sticker charts also work well.

If you want to buy an instrument

Firstly, speak to your child's potential teacher for advice on what to purchase. They will be able to advise on the best instrument at the best price. Instruments can be purchased second hand as well as brand new. Many instruments can also be resold easily. Be careful about buying on eBay. Unless a reputable seller this can be a risky thing to do.

Again, Banks Music York are part of the Arts Councils 'Take it Away' scheme where instruments can be purchased on an interest free credit arrangement subject to the appropriate checks.

Hire to try the instrument before you buy

If you want to hire, you can rent an instrument short term through York Music Centre. They offer a hire scheme at visit yorkartseducation.org.uk. Prices for keyboard, violin, trumpet and guitar is just £3 per month. This is a good way to see if your child enjoys the instrument before you invest in one.
